Neil is a Member in our Richmond office where he advises employers on compliance with federal and state laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, COBRA, the Fair Labor Standards Act, Family Medical Leave Act, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, USERRA, and the Virginia Wage Payment Act. He is often called upon to help navigate the various day-to-day landmines throughout the life cycle of the employer-employee relationship. Neil also works with technology companies on a variety of matters ranging from corporate issues to licensing and other intellectual property issues.

Neil drafts and negotiates employment agreements for his clients, which include the tricky issues surrounding non-competes and other restrictive covenants. On the employment agreement front, he represents employers, executives, physicians, and other professionals. Neil has litigated a variety of employment issues in various state and federal courts including wrongful discharge claims, discrimination and harassment suits, wage and hour claims, misappropriation of trade secrets, business conspiracy claims, restrictive covenants, and other business torts. He also regularly represents employers before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Virginia Employment Commission.
